CONFIDENTIAL

Outline for Conveying the Spirit of Speeches by Central Leaders and Relevant Meetings of the Central Prevention Office

On December 25, 2015, Comrade Meng Jianzhu (孟建柱), Member of the Politburo of the CCP Central Committee, Secretary of the Central Political and Legal Affairs Commission (中央政法委), and Head of the Central Leading Group for the Prevention and Handling of Cult Issues (中央防范和处理邪教问题领导小组); Comrade Guo Shengkun (郭声琨), State Councilor, Party Secretary of Minister of Public Security, Deputy Head of the Central Leading Group for the Prevention and Handling of Cult Issues, Deputy Secretary of the Central Political and Legal Affairs Commission; Comrade Wang Yongqing (汪永清), Secretary-General of the Central Political and Legal Affairs Commission, Deputy Secretary-General of the State Council, visited the Office of the Central Leading Group for the Prevention and Handling of Cult Issues for an inspection. Comrade Meng Jianzhu delivered an important speech at a meeting of all cadres of the Central Prevention Office (中央防范办, also known as the “610 Office”).

On January 24, 2016, with central government approval, the Central Prevention Office convened the National Commendation Conference of the Cult Prevention and Handling in Beijing, along with the National Conference of Directors of Offices for the Prevention and Handling of Cult Issues. Comrade Fu Zhenghua (傅政华), Vice Minister of Public Security, Deputy Head of the National Leading Group for the Prevention and Handling of Cult Issues, and Director of its Office, delivered a speech at the directors' conference titled "Take the Spirit of Innovation as Our Guide and Make Every Effort to Advance Anti-Cult Work" (《以创新精神为引领全力推进反邪教工作》).

I. Main Spirit of Comrade Meng Jianzhu's Speech

Comrade Meng Jianzhu first fully affirmed the cult prevention and handling work of 2015. First, new breakthroughs were achieved in the (Overseas) struggle. We promoted and deepened work through the main diplomatic channel, carried out special strategic strike operations (重 点谋略打击专项行动), and squeezed the space for cult organizations' (Overseas) activities. In particular, during the more than 40 days of General Secretary Xi Jinping's (Overseas) visits, not a single incident occurred of Falun Gong (法轮功) cult elements harassing him at close range. Second, new results were achieved in prevention and crackdown work. We organized special operations against the "Disciples Society" (门徒会) and others, successfully coordinated the handling of key cases such as "Galactic Federation" (银河联邦) and "Huazang Gong" (华藏功), lawfully cracked down on and dealt with Falun Gong's false accusations and frivolous lawsuits (诬告滥诉), as well as a very small number of key-person lawyers (律师重点人) meddling in and hyping cult-related cases, thereby safeguarding overall social and political stability. Third, new progress was made in education and transformation (教育转化) work. We went all out in the final decisive battle of education and transformation and successfully transformed a number of cult devotees. We issued the "Opinions on Further Improving the Release of Transformed Falun Gong Personnel" (《关于进一步做好已转化“法轮功”人员解脱工作的意见》), facilitating the smooth return of transformed personnel to society. Fourth, the morale and outlook of the anti-cult workforce took on a new look.

Comrade Meng Jianzhu pointed out that 2016 is the opening year of the decisive stage of building a moderately prosperous society in all respects, and doing anti-cult work well is of great significance. We must keep pace with the times, reform and innovate, further improve the effectiveness of crackdown and prevention, reduce the capacity for cult activity, lower the actual harm and potential threat posed by cults, and further push anti-cult work to create a new atmosphere, open a new situation, and achieve major progress.

(1) Soberly recognize the long-term and complex nature of the anti-cult struggle under new conditions, and earnestly strengthen our sense of responsibility and mission in doing anti-cult work well. Falun Gong remains rampant in its (Overseas) activities and still has a certain capacity for activity domestically; if our work slackens even slightly, Falun Gong cult elements will jump out to create disorder and sabotage. At the same time, some other cults and illegal organizations with cult characteristics are also quietly growing. The reasons why cults persist despite repeated crackdowns are complex. From the cults' perspective, their emergence is stubborn and recurrent. Cults' heretical fallacies imprison people's minds; once someone falls in, release is relatively difficult, and even after release, relapse is easy. Domestically, our country has a historical and cultural tradition of more than 2,000 years of feudal society, will remain in the primary stage of socialism for a long time, and faces diverse and frequent conflicts during the period of social transition, so the soil and conditions for cults to breed and spread objectively exist. Internationally, as our national strength grows and our international standing rises, Western anti-China forces use Falun Gong and other cult organizations as important tools to slander and attack the leadership of our Party and the socialist system, and do everything possible to indulge and support Falun Gong and other cult organizations in contending with us. The struggle against Falun Gong and other cult organizations is in fact a serious political struggle and a political contest with Western anti-China forces. We must soberly recognize the special importance of the anti-cult struggle under new conditions, further strengthen our sense of crisis and responsibility from the height of safeguarding national political security and overall social stability, continuously strengthen and improve anti-cult work, and strive to open a new situation in anti-cult work.

(2) Maintain the strategic initiative and do anti-cult work well with a pioneering and enterprising spirit. First, unwaveringly maintain a posture of severe crackdown and high pressure. The cult problem has special characteristics; striking at cults requires choosing the right timing, being strategic, and paying attention to methods. In our guiding thinking, we must first be grounded in daring to strike and daring to act, and must never be weak or retreat. Toward all cult organizations, we must insist on taking the initiative ourselves and striking first to control the enemy. Intelligence and information work must be given a more prominent position, to make strikes more targeted and effective. We must carry out special crackdown and rectification campaigns and shift the focus of strikes from those coerced into carrying out disruption and sabotage toward the organizations and core members who plan and direct from behind the scenes. Second, unwaveringly keep education and transformation work in an important position. Most of those coerced by cults are innocent people. Anti-cult work must both strike at and control key cult figures and educate and transform the deceived and coerced masses, truly achieving "grasping with both hands, with both hands firm" (两手抓、两手都要硬). Education and transformation work improved in 2015; we must earnestly sum up the experience and persist in it over the long term. Third, unwaveringly eradicate the soil in which cults breed through rule-of-law thinking and systemic governance thinking. In carrying out the anti-cult struggle, we must focus on the present and do things that produce immediate results, while also taking a long-term view and doing foundational, root-level work. On the one hand, we must govern according to law, make full use of legal weapons, and give play to the important role of law in regulating, guiding, educating, deterring, and punishing. On the other hand, we must adhere to systemic governance and strive to resolve social contradictions and social problems. We must be good at mobilizing all forces in society to participate in anti-cult work, creating a favorable atmosphere throughout society in which everyone rejects cults and everyone opposes cults, and fight an anti-cult people's war (人民战争).

(3) Integrate the online and offline, domestic and (Overseas) anti-cult struggles and drive anti-cult work toward major progress. At present, the weak links in anti-cult work are, first, the online struggle and, second, the (Overseas) struggle. We must further change our thinking, seize on these two weak links, strengthen efforts to tackle key problems, actively promote the integration of the online and offline, domestic and (Overseas) anti-cult struggles, and resolutely curb the arrogance of cult organizations online and (Overseas).

At present, the internet has become the main battlefield in the struggle against cult organizations. All kinds of cults do everything possible to use the internet to slander and attack the leadership of the Party and the socialist system, and to sow discord among and poison innocent people. Among them, the global propaganda network built by Falun Gong has become an important platform for various hostile forces to carry out ideological infiltration and attacks against us, and a hub for inciting and hyping negative information about us. In the internet era, anti-cult work cannot separate online from offline; we cannot have a situation where things seem under control offline while online hype has made a "complete mess." We must firmly establish the concept of coordinating the two battlefields of online and offline, take the initiative to open up the online battlefield, organize countermeasure operations such as "Clean Net" (净网) and "Cut Net" (断网), improve our ability to monitor, block, and control cult-related information online, resolutely block the channels through which cult information and reactionary rumors enter the domestic internet, and resolutely cut off the channels through which cults use the internet to collude internally and externally and to carry out disruption and sabotage. We must actively research and apply new technologies such as network cracking, network blocking, and network countermeasures, and improve our technical capabilities for network prevention and countermeasures. We must strengthen positive online propaganda and guide public opinion, and improve netizens' awareness and ability to discern and resist cults.

The domestic front is the main battlefield of the anti-cult struggle, and domestic work must not be relaxed in the slightest. At the same time, (Overseas) cult organizations are an important source of political rumors, and the leaders of cult organizations, especially the Falun Gong cult organization, are (Overseas). We must strengthen top-level design and coordinate the two fronts at home and abroad, treating the United States and other countries and regions with serious Falun Gong activity as the main battlefield, treating Li Hongzhi (李洪志), Zhao Weishan (赵维山), and other important cult leaders as the main targets, and treating the severing of domestic-(Overseas) collusion channels as the main problem, actively expanding and deepening the (Overseas) battlefield. We must adhere to "one policy per country, one policy per cult, one policy per person" (一国一策、一教一策、一人一策), coordinate the use of all kinds of means, and squeeze to the greatest extent the space for cult organizations' (Overseas) activities. We must make full use of our Party's political and institutional advantages and coordinate all relevant departments to jointly carry out intelligence and information work, crackdown and control, and education and transformation work. We must seize the opportunity presented by Western countries' growing need for us to push relevant countries to ban or restrict the activities of the Falun Gong cult organization, strive to eliminate its long-standing bases of activity as well as its sponsors and business partners, and make the (Overseas) anti-cult struggle increasingly proactive.

Comrade Meng Jianzhu finally emphasized that the 610 Offices (610办) are an important backbone force in the anti-cult struggle, but relying on the 610 Offices alone is not enough to do anti-cult work well; resources and forces from all sides must be integrated to form a joint effort. The 610 Offices must give full play to their institutional advantage of taking charge of the overall situation and coordinating all parties, be good at marshaling resources from all sides, mobilize the initiative of all relevant departments and units, and jointly carry out crackdown and control, education and transformation, and propaganda and guidance work. In conjunction with building the system for social security prevention and control, we must give play to the role of civilian anti-cult forces (民间反邪教力量) to jointly carry out the clearing of cult propaganda materials, anti-cult publicity, and consolidation and follow-up assistance work.

II. Main Points of Comrade Guo Shengkun's Speech

Comrade Guo Shengkun emphasized three points on doing anti-cult work well. First, we must fully recognize the long-term, complex, and arduous nature of the anti-cult struggle; earnestly strengthen our sense of responsibility, sense of crisis, and sense of mission and urgency in our work; remain clear-headed in thinking and firm in politics; take safeguarding national security and consolidating the Party's ruling foundation as the fundamental focus of anti-cult work; strengthen bottom-line thinking; maintain the strategic initiative; strike hard at the infiltration and sabotage activities of Falun Gong and other cults; and resolutely defeat the attempts of Western anti-China forces to carry out a color revolution (颜色革命) against us. Second, we must continuously innovate in thinking, concepts, methods, and means, and strive to open a new situation in anti-cult work. Closely centering on the goal set by Comrade Meng Jianzhu that anti-cult work must show a new atmosphere, a new situation, and major progress, we must let innovation lead all our work. We must continuously strengthen the concepts of active offense, systemic governance, and reliance on the masses; coordinate the two fronts at home and abroad and the two battlefields online and offline; in light of the characteristics of cult activity, continuously improve our ability to detect, handle, and strike at cults' online activities; comprehensively employ both crackdown and punishment and propaganda and education; and severely crack down on illegal activities such as Falun Gong's false accusations and frivolous lawsuits, domestic-(Overseas) collusion, and recruitment of members, creating a powerful deterrent. We must intensify education and transformation work so that the existing number of stubborn Falun Gong devotees keeps falling and new additions are curbed. We must intensify propaganda and education, do a good job with the release (解脱) of Falun Gong personnel and the project of returning them to society (回归社会工程), incorporate them into the social governance system, platforms, and networks, and achieve dynamic management (动态管理) of Falun Gong and other cult personnel. Third, we must strengthen organizational leadership over anti-cult work and ensure that all tasks are implemented.

III. Main Points of Comrade Fu Zhenghua's Speech

Comrade Fu Zhenghua's speech comprehensively summarized the work of 2015, analyzed the current situation in depth, and laid out the work for 2016. He pointed out that in 2015 the national anti-cult system successfully completed all its tasks: (Overseas) work achieved new breakthroughs; major progress was made in comprehensively advancing the governance of cults according to law; prevention, control, and crackdown work achieved new results, with Falun Gong's false accusations and frivolous lawsuits resolutely prevented and struck at according to law, and key cases such as "Huazang Gong" successfully tried; education and transformation work took new steps; propaganda and education work showed new improvement; and grassroots foundation-building reached a new level. In 2016, anti-cult work must adhere to bottom-line thinking and a problem orientation; plan the two battlefields at home and abroad and the two fronts online and offline in a coordinated way; maintain the strategic initiative; strengthen political responsibility, rule-of-law thinking, innovative concepts, and risk control; and, on the basis of comprehensively advancing all cult prevention and handling work, focus on winning three major battles: the (Overseas) struggle, the online struggle, and the prevention and handling of other cults, making every effort to achieve the work goal of "a new atmosphere, a new situation, and major progress" (新气象、新局面、大进展). He emphasized that after 17 years of effort, anti-cult work has achieved a decisive victory domestically and the overall situation of the struggle is stable and controllable, but the anti-cult struggle remains grim and complex. This is mainly reflected in the "five must-not-be-underestimated" (五个不可估计过低): the actual harm and potential threat posed by cults to our political security, judicial system reform, cybersecurity, and cultural security, as well as the speed, scale, and harm of the development and spread of other cults, must not be underestimated.

Comrade Fu Zhenghua focused on laying out this year's work.

(1) Earnestly implement the spirit of the Fifth Plenary Session of the 18th CCP Central Committee and do a good job of top-level design for anti-cult work. This requires the "Three Adherences" (三个坚持): Adhere to the unity of goal orientation and problem orientation. Achieving "a new atmosphere, a new situation, and major progress" is our work goal; it was initially achieved in 2015, must be pushed forward with full effort in 2016, and should be fully achieved in 2017, ensuring that the "Three Bottom Lines" (三个底线) are not breached: never allow a major cult incident to occur "without anyone knowing" (神不知、鬼不晓) in advance; never allow cult personnel to form large-scale organizations; and never allow new leading figures to emerge in domestic cult organizations. Adhere to coordinating a domestic foothold with a global perspective. Coordinate the two battlefields at home and abroad and firmly hold the initiative in the anti-cult struggle. Adhere to combining comprehensive advancement with a focus on priorities. Give full play to the principal role of the member units of the Leading Group and comprehensively advance anti-cult work in all respects, including politics, the economy, culture, social management, and the building of grassroots political power. The "Four Strengthenings" (四个强化): First, strengthen political responsibility. Be good at observing and handling the cult problem from a political perspective. Establish and improve a system of regular reports and briefings on the anti-cult struggle situation: no less than once a year for the Central Prevention Office, no less than twice a year at the provincial level, and no less than once a quarter at the prefecture level and above, with special situations reported at any time. Include cult prevention and handling work in the performance evaluations of county-level leadership teams and the leading cadres in charge. Formulate workable opinions on handling Party member cadres and personnel within the system who are involved with cults, and deal sternly with Party member cadres involved with cults. Second, strengthen rule-of-law thinking. Be good at using rule-of-law thinking and methods to explore solutions to the various problems in cult prevention and handling, make good use of existing laws and regulations, and push forward legislative work. Third, strengthen conceptual innovation. Establish the concepts of coordinated development, active offense, and sustained long-term effort, and prepare for protracted operations. Fourth, strengthen risk control. Prevent low-probability cult-related events from developing into major incidents that affect stability in a local area or even the whole country, and prevent cult problems from combining with other social problems to produce a "butterfly" effect (蝴蝶效应).

(2) Highlight priorities and focus on winning the three battles of the (Overseas) struggle, the online struggle, and the prevention and handling of other cults. First, focus on winning the (Overseas) struggle. Further deepen "remote education" (远程教育) work, developing "shouting across the ocean" (隔洋喊话) into "face-to-face" (面对面) work, and strive for new breakthroughs with the core members and key persons of (Overseas) cults. Strengthen coordination and guidance of (Overseas) work, with one policy per country, one policy per cult, and one policy per person, to push the (Overseas) anti-cult struggle forward in depth. Give play to the role of the main diplomatic channel, expand civilian channels, and compress the (Overseas) living space of Falun Gong and other cult organizations. Adhere to active offense and be good at using international norms and the laws of relevant countries. Make every effort to prevent Falun Gong from harassing high-level visits (高访). Deepen the struggle in Hong Kong and Taiwan, and push local provinces and cities to mobilize patriotic civil groups (民间爱国团体) in Hong Kong and Taiwan to carry out on-site and public-opinion countermeasures.

Second, focus on winning the online struggle. Fully leverage the professional and technical advantages of public security, state security, industry and information technology, and other departments; mobilize civilian forces; and improve our ability to proactively attack cult websites. Continue online screening and special-case crackdown work, effectively monitor key cult figures online, and carry out precision strikes against cults' core online members. Integrate all kinds of anti-cult websites, explore supporting or establishing online platforms (Overseas), and carry out public-opinion guidance and countermeasure work. Adhere to integrating domestic and (Overseas), online and offline anti-cult work, and establish and improve an integrated (Overseas)-domestic, online-offline prevention and control mechanism. Make the crackdown on political rumors produced by (Overseas) Falun Gong media the opening battle of 2016 and achieve clear results as soon as possible. Third, focus on winning the battle to prevent and handle other cults. Earnestly study and draft work opinions on strengthening the prevention and handling of other cults and illegal organizations with cult characteristics, and intensify crackdowns on them. Organize systematic screening of other cults and illegal organizations with cult characteristics. Organize regional special crackdown operations against relatively active cults and illegal organizations with cult characteristics, and continue striking at active cults such as "Almighty God" (全能神), the "Disciples Society," and "Blood-Water Holy Spirit" (血水圣灵); for illegal organizations with cult characteristics appearing under any name or in any form, strike early while they are small, and strike as soon as they show their heads (抓早打小、露头就打).

(3) Coordinate overall and do a good job in all aspects of anti-cult work. First, strengthen intelligence and information work. Give intelligence a leading role, intensify intelligence gathering, and promptly obtain early-warning, operational, and inside intelligence. Integrate intelligence resources, establish and improve anti-cult intelligence work mechanisms, strengthen the building of the corps of intelligence informants (情报信息员), strengthen the deployment of covert forces (秘密力量) (Overseas), and formulate long-, medium-, and short-term intelligence collection outlines for each type of cult organization. Second, strengthen prevention and crackdown work. Incorporate anti-cult work into the building of the social security prevention and control system, and strengthen prevention, control, and accountability for key persons, key locations, and key time periods. Strengthen analysis of the enemy situation and technical countermeasures to ensure early detection, early prevention, and early handling. Make "striking the heads, cutting the lines, and digging out the roots" (打头、断线、挖根) the focus of crackdowns, with precision strikes against cult organizations' underground groups, leaders, and core members. Strictly observe the policy and legal bottom lines of cult prevention and handling work, continue to severely crack down on cults' false accusations and frivolous lawsuits, and severely crack down on Falun Gong's false accusations and frivolous lawsuits...

...[management] system, carry out dynamic screening and risk assessment of key cult personnel within their jurisdictions, implement tiered management, assign control responsibilities, and achieve fine-grained control. Make full use of all kinds of social resources, mobilize the masses to the greatest extent, and fight an anti-cult people's war, and establish an anti-cult work database.

Comrade Fu Zhenghua finally called for strengthening organizational leadership and comprehensively raising the level of anti-cult work. First, leaders must attach importance. Party committees and governments at all levels must treat anti-cult work as a hard task and a primary responsibility, regularly convene dedicated Party committee (Party group) meetings to study anti-cult work, and focus on resolving issues such as organizational setup and funding. Second, mechanisms must be sound. Dare to break through institutional obstacles and study systems and mechanisms conducive to the work. Improve communication mechanisms for mutual exchange, consultation, and sharing among member units, as well as mechanisms for reporting information on important cult activities, to form a joint effort. Third, measures must be implemented. For the work laid out this year, draw up a task list, a responsibility list, and a timetable for completion, and implement them item by item. Strengthen supervision and inspection and improve accountability mechanisms; where work is not implemented, or serious cases or incidents occur, those responsible must be held accountable. Fourth, the workforce must keep up. Always put ideological and political building first in building the anti-cult workforce, and in accordance with the requirement of comprehensively and strictly governing the Party, strengthen the ideological, political, work-style, and disciplinary building of the anti-cult workforce. Establish and improve an education and training system for anti-cult cadres.

Outline for Conveying the Spirit of Relevant Meetings of the Provincial Party Committee's Political and Legal Affairs Commission

On February 24, 2016, the Provincial Party Committee's Political and Legal Affairs Commission convened a meeting in Guangzhou of the secretaries of the political and legal affairs commissions of all municipal Party committees in the province. Comrade Ye Minhui (叶敏辉), full-time Deputy Secretary of the Provincial Political and Legal Affairs Commission, delivered a speech titled "Innovate Concepts and Approaches and Strive to Open a New Situation in Guangdong's Anti-Cult Work" (《创新理念思路努力开创广东反邪教工作新局面》).

Comrade Ye Minhui called for efforts in three areas:

I. Strengthen Conceptual Innovation and Abandon the "Three Selves" (三自)

Cult prevention and handling work must strengthen innovative concepts, firmly seize the opportunity presented by the reorganization of political and legal affairs commission bodies at all levels in our province, and abandon the outdated "Three Selves" mindset: (1) Resolutely abandon the mindset of "self-isolation" (自我封闭). (2) Resolutely abandon the mindset of "self-mystification" (自我神秘). The top-level design and key links of anti-cult crackdown, prevention and control, and foreign-related struggle need to be kept secret, but in areas such as cautionary education and "cult-free" creation campaigns (无邪创建), we should free our minds and publicize openly and confidently. The system of regular reports and briefings on the anti-cult struggle situation must be maintained. (3) Resolutely abandon the mindset of "self-satisfaction" (自我满足).

II. Focus on Winning the Three Battles

(1) Focus on winning the (Overseas) struggle. First, there must be new breakthroughs in sister-city (友城) and Taiwan-related (涉台) work projects. Strive for the province to complete 40 key sister-city work projects and 40 Taiwan-related work projects in 2016. Second, deepen (Overseas) screening and remote education work. Third, explore ways to make our voice heard (Overseas) (境外发声). Fourth, continue to carry out Hong Kong and Taiwan work in depth. (2) Focus on winning the online struggle. Each city must earnestly coordinate and push public security, state security, industry and information technology, communications administration, and other departments to fully leverage their professional and technical advantages and their role as the main force, strengthen cooperation, increase investment, and tackle the problem together. We must strengthen our capacity for online monitoring, interception, and blocking, and effectively prevent and handle cult organizations' use of online social platforms to spread harmful information and to incite and organize large-scale gatherings and sabotage; organize dedicated forces to tackle key problems such as "the difficulty of investigating online leads, the difficulty of collecting electronic evidence, and the difficulty of investigating and punishing online violations"; centrally deploy online screening and special crackdown work; and carry out effective online monitoring and precision offline strikes against core cult members. We must strengthen the integrated "intelligence, control, investigation, and strike" capabilities of local public security anti-cult special online-struggle investigation teams (网上斗争特别侦察队), striving for major results this year. All localities must, based on the online activity information circulated by the province, promptly organize on-the-ground verification of local Falun Gong activity reported on "Minghui.org" (明慧网), resolutely take out a number of underground "technicians" (技术员), "informants" (信息员), and "writers" (写手), and ensure the goal of getting our province out of the national top ten in the number of harmful items concerning our province published on "Minghui.org." (3) Focus on winning the battle to prevent and handle other cults. In addition to Falun Gong, we must continue to maintain a high-pressure crackdown on "Almighty God" and do our utmost to squeeze its space for survival and activity. Coordinate and organize special-case investigations and crackdowns on "Blood-Water Holy Spirit" and the Lord God Sect (主神教), strengthen intelligence work, and strive to take out their leaders and core members and destroy their organizational systems. Coordinate and organize the timely and effective handling of large-scale gatherings and outbound activities of "Bodhi Gong" (菩提功), the "Shouters" (呼喊派), the "Tea Ceremony Society" (茶道会), "Guan Yin Citta" (心灵法门), and others. Continue the reform-through-education (教育改造) of imprisoned "Huazang Zongmen" (华藏宗门) offenders, online public-opinion monitoring, and exposure and cautionary work, and never allow it to rise from the ashes.

III. Coordinate and Advance All Aspects of Cult Prevention and Handling Work

First, prevention, control, and crackdown must continue to be intensified. During major holidays and events such as the national "Two Sessions" (两会) and National Day, and sensitive dates such as "4·25," "5·13," and "7·22," we must earnestly strengthen public-space prevention and control (社会面防控), strictly prevent all kinds of major cult cases (incidents), and ensure that the "Three Bottom Lines" are held: never allow a major cult incident to occur "without anyone knowing" in advance; never allow cult personnel to form large-scale organizations; and never allow new leading figures to emerge in domestic cult organizations. Second, education and transformation must continue to intensify, and "release" (解脱) work must steadily advance. Following the three-year decisive battle (三年决战) of education and transformation, this year we must continue to intensify our efforts. For cult personnel involved in cases, those who participated in "false accusations and frivolous lawsuits," and especially the problems exposed during last year's verification, we must resolve to study education and transformation plans one by one, prescribe the right remedy for each case, and ensure results. We must further advance the work of combining transformation with trial (转审结合) (last November, the Central Prevention Office and the Ministry of Public Security held a special meeting making clear that education and transformation work in public security detention facilities is to be included in performance evaluations), and gradually establish a full-coverage education and transformation chain running through investigation, prosecution, trial, execution of sentences, community corrections, and every other stage. Third, the "cult-free" creation campaign must continue to be intensified. Fourth, cautionary publicity and education work must continue to be intensified.
